The Julia Set was formed in 2007, in the West London area, as an out-and-out rock band. They played covers for a number of years to learn their craft, performing in pubs and clubs around the Home Counties and London, always with the intention of creating original music.

Their sound is inspired by what they like to hear, from pop-rock to heavy metal and everything in between. Each song has a different feel from the last because of the varied influences in the band. Writing a song is a group effort, with everyone in the band collaborating on the arrangement, lyrics and sound to make something that's both fun to play and something to be proud of.

Production is also in-house. All the recording, mixing, and mastering is carried out by the band themselves, under the banner of Cerian Studios.

The band's first original release was the EP "Skyline" (available on Bandcamp) which was The Julia Set's first collection of songs to be given air-time on stations in the UK, USA and Australia. This has since been followed by a number of singles, the latest being "Sunday", "Wild Wood", "Running Through My Head", "Sunday", "Finding Out" and "No".

Gigs have included such prestigious venues as The 12 Bar Club, The Alleycat, Fiddlers Elbow, The Bedford and The Water Rats, plus many small festivals in the south of England.

Projects we've been involved in include spots on FENIX360 and also working with HotVox on a broadcast gig raise money for Rising/WAR Child in April 2022.
